I feel that allowing cell phone calls during flights would be a danger to all passengers, that they may interfere with the onboard communications and navigation equipment. It would be sad to cause a plane crash and loss of life over a cell phone call. I don't think and phone conversation is that important that it cannot wait unitl the plane has landed safely. Also, they could cause an argument or even a fight between passengers if one is talking loud on his cell phone, and it is annoying the other passengers aroung him if they are trying to read, nap etc. Cell phones on flights should not be allowed period!
